

This Tuesday, May 3rd, U.S. Representative Jay Inslee will speak on the floor of the House of Representatives to honor the accomplishments of Dr. Frank Kitamoto. As you know, Frank Kitamoto has been the president of the Bainbridge Island Japanese American Community for more than two decades, and his contributions go far beyond our island community.

May is nationally celebrated as Asian Pacific Islander Heritage month. Please tune in to C-SPAN for a special tribute when Members of Congress will celebrate local heroes from their constituencies.

What: Rep. Jay Inslee to honor Bainbridge Island's Dr. Frank Kitamoto

When: Tuesday, 5/3/2005, most likely starting after 7:00pm Pacific Daylight Time

Where: The House floor, aired live on C-SPAN and via live video online at www.c-span.org

I apologize for not being able to provide a more exact time. Unfortunately, it is difficult to predict the schedule of the House of Representatives, as changes to the schedule occur throughout the day.

However, normal business of the House of Representatives is expected to end sometime between 7 and 9 PM PDT. If you are interested in watching, please tune into C-Span this Tuesday evening. If you would rather view this online, a live video feed will be available on C-Span's website at www.c-span.org.
